

DISH Network Adds Top-Rated Indian Channel to International Programming Line-Up

EchoStar Communications Corporation (NASDAQ: DISH) announced today that its DISH Network™ satellite television service has added Indian channel Zee Gujarati to its international programming lineup. This launch brings to 20 the total number of South Asian channels currently available on DISH Network and reinforces its efforts to offer the most comprehensive international programming and content. DISH Network offers more than 100 international channels from over 25 countries in more than 25 languages, including Arabic, Farsi, Portuguese, Mandarin, Japanese, Polish and Russian.

"By adding Zee Gujarati, we are now able to provide this top quality channel from the state of Gujarat in northern India," said Tracy Thompson, EchoStar's vice president of International Programming. "Customers can now enjoy Gujarati programming in their native language. No other pay-TV company can match DISH Network's extensive South Asian programming offerings, which now include 20 channels in 8 different regional languages." Broadcast from Noida, India, Zee Gujarati is positioned as wholesome family "infotainment" - a community channel for Gujaratis anywhere in the world. It provides a platform to promote and preserve Gujarati culture. Zee Gujarati showcases a mix of classic and contemporary programming, including current affairs and festival-based programs such as "Navratri" and "Garba." It also provides a forum for Gujarat residents to display their talent in art, music, literature, dance, theater and handicrafts.

"ZEE Network provides the most comprehensive range of South Asian programming in the world," said Dheeraj Kapuria, ZEE's President of International Operations. "The launch of this channel is further evidence of ZEE's commitment to the South Asian community in the United States." Customers can subscribe to Zee Gujarati for only $14.99 per month on an "a la carte" basis. Zee Gujarati will be broadcast on channel 623 at the 61.5° and 148° orbital locations and at channel 809 at the 121° orbital location.

DISH Network existing customers will receive a free preview of Zee Gujarati on channel 574 at the 61.5° and 148° orbital locations through July 7, 2005. Customers at the 121° orbital location can enjoy the free preview on channel 809 through July 21, 2005.

Customers can contact 1-800-333-DISH (3474) or their local retailer for more information on how to subscribe to any of these packages. To learn more about DISH Network's international programming offers, customers can visit www.dishnetwork.com or www.ZEEtvusa.com for ZEE Network information.
